Information

What is a court interpreter & what do they do?

A court interpreter makes interlingual communication possible. They provide aid to foreign individuals to communicate in a judicial environment. Court interpreters interpret from English to the source language of the person with LEP (Limited English Proficiency) and from the source language back into English for the record. Interpreters are available for a variety of languages including American Sign Language. Interpreters for other languages may be available upon request.

How to become a court interpreter

If you are interested in becoming a court interpreter, please submit your application online to dwelle@guamcourts.gov or in-person to the Judiciary of Guam 120 W. O'Brien Drive Hagåtña, Guam 96932.
